Community Conversations

Community outreach and education are major goals of our Hospice Guild. With that in mind, this fall we began a new venue called, "Community Conversations". Our first meeting focused on the work of hospice patient volunteers and was held in the Kingsmill home of Guild member and active volunteer, Joan Gilkison.

Community Conversations will bring together Guild members, as well as their friends and neighbors, into a small group setting to learn more about subjects related to death and dying and hospice care. Attendees were introduced to Linda Osborn, Director of Patient/Family Volunteer Services, who facilitated a discussion with three long time patient volunteers. The inspiring conversation gave us a glimpse into the work of these amazing volunteers and to the extraordinary experiences they have encountered.

The second in the series of Community Conversations is planned for February in Governor's Land with a focus on Bereavement.

Pictured (standing) is Linda Osborn, Director of Patient/Family Volunteer Services. Participating Patient and Family Volunteers were Mary Ann Markus, Joyce White and Peggy Pelanne

If you are interested in hosting a Community Conversation in your neighborhood, please call Ellen Schiavone at 565-1057. The Guild will provide refreshments, mail invitations and set up the topic for the day. You are only asked to open your home!

THANKS TO EVERYONE WHO SUPPORTED AN ELEGANT CULINARY AFFAIRE!

THE HOLIDAYS AT HOSPICE HOUSE

Hospice Guild Gardeners provided a holiday brunch for the staff

Friends from William E. Wood Realty stopped by with a generous donation collected at their holiday party.

Stephen Christoff filled the halls of Hospice House with beautiful melodies.
